

Go to the following web address:

<http://www.openoffice.org/>

Here you can download a free office suite to use at home. It is not Microsoft Office, but it is very similar and FREE!!

The screenshot shows the OpenOffice.org website homepage. At the top left is the logo "OpenOffice.org" with the tagline "the free and open productivity suite". To the right of the logo is a search bar with a "Search" button, a "Change Language" button, and a "Log In" button. Below the search bar is an "Advanced search" link. A navigation menu at the top right includes links for "Home", "News", "Download", "Support", "Projects", "My Pages", and "About".

The main content area features four primary navigation links, each with an icon and a brief description:

- I want to learn more about OpenOffice.org: "What is OpenOffice.org? And why should I use it?"
- I want to download OpenOffice.org: "Download OpenOffice.org 3.0 for free, or find out about other ways of getting it (not all platforms and languages are up yet)". Below this is a green "Download now!" button with a progress indicator showing "Start downloading OpenOffice.org 3.0.0 (308 MB) (100%)". Below the button is a link: "Get more platforms and languages, order CD-ROM, or P2P downloads".
- I need help with my OpenOffice.org: "Help is at hand whenever you need it".
- I want to do more with my OpenOffice.org: "Extend OpenOffice.org with additional functionality, templates and clipart".

On the right side of the page, there is a blue bird icon and a text box that reads: "OpenOffice.org is hot! Our download thermometer has been updated with the latest Bouncer statistics."
